

After 37 years of hosting guests at the Back Creek Inn, the time has come to slow down the operations of my bed and breakfast – for repeat guests and first timers – in a more laid-back way that is consistent with today’s vacation properties.

Beginning May 1, 2024, I am accepting reservations with a 2-night minimum, arriving after 2:00pm and checking out by 10:00 am. Your stay will begin with a contactless self-check-in and a hospitality welcome basket of homemade goodies. We no longer serve breakfast, but every accommodation features a small refrigerator, microwave, and coffee pot. I am also excited to feature a new 2-bedroom Little House, “221”, that is ready for guests (find details under Room-Suites-Cottages)!

While you will see less of me – I will be in my studio painting or out stirring my creative eye on a new vista – there will be someone around the Inn most mornings or nearby. I am beyond grateful for the many wonderful years of greeting you and serving breakfast, but it is time for me to be the artist that I was first called to be.

I look forward to seeing you sitting on the Adirondacks watching the boats go by or walking through the gardens.
